

PRIVACY POLICY

At Insights PolicyLabs, we value your privacy.

This Privacy Policy provides succinctly the manner your data is collected from your access to the website and used by Insights PolicyLabs, its parents' organisation and its partner organisation. As a visitor to the Site/ Customer you are advised to please read the Privacy Policy carefully. By accessing the services provided by the Site you agree to the collection and use of your data by Insights PolicyLabs in the manner provided in this Privacy Policy.

What information is, or may be, collected from you?

As part of the registration process on the Site, We may collect the following personally identifiable information about you: Name including first and last name, alternate email address, mobile phone number and contact details, Postal code, Demographic profile (like your age, gender, occupation, education, address etc.) and information about the pages on the site you visit/access, the links you click on the site, the number of times you access the page and any such browsing information through cookies.

We may also collect all information that you have provided voluntarily through our forms.

How is information used?

We will use your personal information to provide personalized features to you on the Site and to provide for promotional offers to you through the Site and other channels. We will also provide this information to its business associates and partners to get in touch with you when necessary to provide the services requested by you.

With whom your information will be shared?

We shall not share your personal information with any third party not associated with us.

How can you correct inaccuracies in the information?

To correct or update any information you have provided, the Site allows you to do it online. In the event of loss of access details, you can send an e-mail to: pil@insightsint.org